Tuesday, January 2. 1722.

London, January 2.
Yesterday arrived a Mail from Flanders.

Oleszyce, December 11.

TH E Crown General wrote a Letter to the Czar dated the 9th of the last Month; in Answer to one delivered him by the Russian Secretary from his Czarish Majesty; in which he congratulates him on the Peace concluded at Neu-Breda, and thanks him for having comprehended Poland in that Treaty; but adds, that as the Czar cannot but be sensible of the extreme Pressure the Republick has lain under during the Course of the late War, so he hoped that conformable to his Czarish Majesty's frequent Declarations the Republick shall be compensated for the Inconveniencies and Losses she has sustained.

Stockholm, Dec. 17. Some Days ago the Advocate Sarlatius received Sentence, by which, 'tis said, he is to suffer Death and Loss of all his Estate; and this, for being convicted of having suborned false Witnesses, hired by him to give Evidence against Colonel Stobaus, who, on the other Hand, is acquitted of the unjust Accusation laid against him. On the 15th Instant the Crews of four Dutch Ships, viz. The City of Amsterdam, the Prince Frederick Henry, the Mary, and Julianus, which were lost at Sea in bad Weather returning from Narva to Holland eight League West of Haltingfort, arrived in this City to the Number of 61 Persons, one Woman included; they report that two other Dutch Ships perished likewise, and none of their Crews saved. M. Rumpf, the States General's Resident, has given them 100 Rixdollars towards defraying their Charges to Holland.

Vienna, Dec. 10. 'An Extraordinary Council was held some Days ago on the Dispatches brought hither by a Courier from Constantinople, who is again sent back to M. Dierling the Imperial Resident at the Ottoman Court, with fresh Instructions, as 'tis said, relating to some Differences yet depending with the Republick of Venice. The projected Commerce with Constantinople by the Eastern Company in this City, is still attended with Impediments, on which Account Prince Alexander of Wintemberg is expected here to remove them if possible.

Hambourg, Jan. 2. Advices from Petersbourg say, that the Damage sustained there by the late Inundation is computed at 9 Millions of Rubles, and will probably overthrow all Projects of transferring thither the Trade of Archangel. Those Advices add, that the Czar has fixed the Day of his Departure for Moscow on the 7th Instant. Letters from Stockholm say, that the Ships of Sweden which transported the Muscovite Prisoners to their own Country, are returned laden with Russian Merchandise, and that the Sale of them had proved advantageous. The Day for convening the States of the Kingdom is not yet agreed upon, although the Senate holds frequent Conferences on that Subject. It is reported that the King of Sweden will make a Tour into Germany the next Spring. Advices from Domitz give an Account, that a Burghmaster and several other Persons have been broke on the Wheel, and that Prosecutions are carried on against other Prisoners. It is given out, that the Conspiracy they are accused of was discovered in the following Manner; the Duke of Mecklenberg meeting one Evening a Woman carrying a Pye to the Secretary Scharf, caused it to be brought into his own Apartment, and opening it, found a Letter, advising the Secretary to leave the Castle immediately, there being but a Finger's Length of Match left burning which was to set Fire to the Powder, and blow up the Castle. Upon this, strict Search was made that Instant, and the Case was discovered to be actually such. It is reported, that the Conspirators had designed to fire the City at the same time, and set the Prisoners at Liberty. The Privy Councellour Wolfradt is likewise put to Death, but in what Manner is not said.

Alais, Dec. 10. 'On the 9th Instant, two Persons died in the Suburbs, where remains 27 sick; and 16 that are recovering. None have lately fallen sick or died of the Contagion in the City, nor in the Houses under Quarantine: The Houses in the City are disinfecting daily, and a large one is preparing in the Country to receive such Persons as are recovering.

Alais, Dec. 11. 'Yesterday two Persons died in the Suburbs, and three are fallen sick; one is likewise fallen sick in the City, and will be removed to the Suburbs. The 16 who are recovering, are to be conveyed To-morrow to the House in the Country appointed for that Purpose.

Extrait of a Letter from the Archbishop of Aix, dated Dec. 12.

'Things grow better at Besse, la Roque, Bruffanne, and also at Alais; if the Plague spreads no farther, we may hope to be soon freed from it in Provence.

Nimes, Dec. 15. 'We enjoy perfect Health; the Plague makes no great Progress at Alais, nor in its Territory.

Avignon, Dec. 10. 'The Contagion is considerably abated in this City. From the 1st to the 4th Instant, only 230 Persons have died of it; and from the 5th to the 8th no more than 20, and about the like Number every Day since: During that time 200 have died in the Infirmary, making in the whole 450; which Diminution is near one half of what died in the like Space some Weeks ago. The Infirmary yet contain 800 Persons, but two or three Hundred of them are very nigh being cured. If this favourable State continues in Proportion to what it has of late, we may hope to be soon delivered.

Alais, Dec. 13. 'Last Night two Persons died in the Suburbs, and one under Quarantine; 22 are sent from the Infirmary who are cured; there are yet remaining 32 sick.

Extrait of a Letter from M. Brancas, in Aix, the 15th of December.

'The Places in Provence mend daily; there are only four infected, viz. la Roque, Bruffanne, Besse, and Alais; in the latter none have fallen sick or died this Fortnight past, and the Contagion abates considerably in the two former: We have also better News than usual from Avignon, and the rest of the Comtat.

Hague, Jan. 2. 'The King of Prussia has wrote to the States, perswading them to second his Instances with the City of Hambourg in Behalf of the Reformed Protestants there, desiring they may be permitted to live unmolested in their just Privileges, they being at present greatly disturbed in the Freedom they have hitherto enjoyed, by the false Zeal of the Lutheran Ecclesiasticks: The States will write to the Magistrates of Hambourg on this Subject. It is reported, that the Spaniards have changed the Resolution they had taken taken of prohibiting all Commerce with Holland upon Account of the Plague, and require only the Observance of a Quarantine, which has been thereto occasioned the Delay of the Convey bound from Amsterdam for Cadiz; and it is said, that the States will cause Remonstrances to be made at the Court of Spain, that the Order requiring their Ships to perform Quarantine may be taken off. Profligate Officers in this Country, and at the Frontiers, are levying Soldiers of all Nations to recruit their Troops. The States of Holland are to assemble on the 7th Instant.
